THE CREW DROWNED

Sinking of the Steamer Cynthia
From Glasgow, in a Collision.

Editor O'Brien's Vigorous Defense of the Irish National League.

The Parnell Inquiry—Bismarck Figuring in
the Greenwood.—St. James Gazette's Suit—A Sensational Falsification Case—The English Races—Review of Troops at Berlin by King Humbert and Emperor
William—Arrival and Reception to Hon.
Robert T. Lincoln at Liverpool—Foreign News.

MONTREAL, May 22.—A serious collision occurred on the river this morning between the Royal mail steamer Polytechnic of the Allen line, commanded by Capt. Hugh Whyte, and the steamer Cynthia of the Donaldson line, commanded by Capt. John Taylor, resulting in the sinking of the latter vessel and the loss of her crew. The Polytechnic left port shortly after 4 o'clock this morning and proceeded down the Verane channel. Opposite Point Tremblay she perceived the Cynthia inward bound.

A DANGEROUS CURVE.
From the details obtained it appears that there is a dangerous curve in the channel at this point and that through some misunderstanding of the "Rules of the Road" the Polytechnic was brought into collision with the Cynthia, striking her at the port bow and causing such a gap in her side as to sink her in a few minutes, the vessel filling with water rapidly. Those on deck had barely time to rush below and warn the members of the crew who were off watch and asleep in their berths, to get on deck and swim ashore to save their lives.

The Cynthia carried no passengers. She was from Glasgow with a general cargo of chiefly pig iron. The following is a list of the crew of the Cynthia who lost their lives:

JOHN IRVING, chief cook, Glasgow.
ALEXANDER IRVING, steward, Glasgow.
ANDREW VANCE, trimmer.
CHARLES MURPHY, trimmer.
JAMES LOW, fireman, Glasgow.
CHARLES BLACKBURN, fireman, Glasgow.
DAVID YOUNG, stowaway from Glasgow.
CHIEF OFFICER COATES' STATEMENT.
John Coates, chief officer of the Cynthia, was seen on board the steamer Alicia, which he had in a suit of clothes borrowed from a brother officer. He was below at the time of the catastrophe. He felt a tremendous crash and rushed on deck to find the Cynthia had been struck by a big steamer, which he learned was the Polytechnic and both vessels backing from each other, he had barely time to observe anything, as the Cynthia began to sink.

It appeared to be about seven minutes from the time he felt the shock to the time she sunk.
Taylor was on the bridge at the time of the collision, and the Cynthia was on the upper side of the Polytechnic.

THE POLYTECHNIC TO BLAME.
The rules of the sea, which prevail likewise
in the river, are that vessels shall pass each other on the port side. The position in which the Cynthia now lies, Mr. Coates contends, is evidence that she was in the wrong.

According to the people in the vicinity of the shore, who witnessed the catastrophe, the collision took place about five minutes to 6, and in twenty minutes more the boat had disappeared. The how which was struck went down first, the stern party of the vessel, and then she lapped over, throwing all but three men into the water. Most of these could swim, and saved themselves.
When a boat came to the assistance of the men, they refused to leave until the boat, which was in great danger of drowning, had been saved.
They evidently did not know their peril, and when the vessel suddenly sank, one of them who was unable to swim was drowned. The Cynthia was being steered from the bridge, which he considers very dangerous.
The Cynthia was being steered from the bridge. The Cynthia was being steered from the bridge.

The Parnell Inquiry.

LONDON, May 22.—Mr. Wm. O'Brien continued his testimony before the Parnell Commission to-day. He denied that he had ever published in United Ireland anything relating to outrage. The League, he said, was founded chiefly to oppose secret landlord combinations. The landlords had formed a combination having a nominal capital of £1,000,000 for the purpose of carrying out evictions by the wholesale and repelling the evicted tenants
with colonies of tenants from other countries.
He had been a member of the Committee of the League since its organization.
Witness had never heard a suggestion to encourage outrage. Several branches of the League had been suppressed in consequence of the strong language used at the meetings and the excessive boycotting to which they resorted. Witness attended the convention in America in 1886. He had no connection with the dynamites while there.
A vast bulk of those who attended the convention were men of the highest standing.
Witness saw Patrick Ford at the convention.
He appeared to be sorry for the attitude he had previously taken.

THE CROSS-EXAMINATION.
The cross-examination of Mr. O'Brien was conducted by Attorney-General Webster.
Witness said he could not produce any record of the League suppressing branches or protesting against boycotting. He did not consider boycotting a crime, but he was not simply Irish for blackballing. He drew a distinction between criminality and illegality.
"The Irish," he said, "have an earnest, healthy reputation for criminality. As to illegality, meaning living in a state of lawlessness, illegality is bred in us." The law was not a crime.

In answer to further questions by the Attorney-General, Mr. O'Brien said he was not able to say what was legal and what was illegal in Ireland. Anything that two resident magistrates say is law. The League was not certainly intended to lessen outrage, but no League or human power could prevent crime in such a state as that of Ireland. He had never advised the people to assist the Government in the detection of crime because that would be accepting the responsibility that the League wholly repudiated. United Ireland and secret societies were not the same.

The League wanted nineteen-twentieths of the people in Ireland from such societies.

The Greenwood Case.

Special Cablegram to the Post-Dispatch.
LONDON, May 22.—In Greenwood's suit against the St. James Gazette, the jury were discharged, being unable to agree. The trial is a leading topic in journalistic and political circles, being looked on as a highly important showing light on the international ramifications
of the Bismarck repulse press bureau.
Greenwood threw up his editorship of the St. James Gazette, the new proprietor of the paper, of being controlled by Bismarck. He produced letters in evidence which show the following state of things. Bismarck, a German merchant, settled in London, buys up the St. James Gazette, goes to Berlin, and is responsible for the Bismarck repulse press bureau.
He promises early news from Berlin on condition
that the news be published in the form given,
meaning, of course, that the Bismarckian views on the news is to be advocated. For instance Bismarck, after seeing Bismarck,
sent Greenwood the following cable news:
"I believe everything is going on as well as possible, but it takes time to put matters right. Their idea concerning Boulanger is not an English paper should say that Germany and only Germany benefits by what Boulanger does at present and has done for some time, namely, fomenting dissatisfaction and disobedience in the army. But B.
Greenwood there are are available facts
before proposing any observations on that subject."

It was stated in the cross-examination to mean Bismarck. This revelation will give misleading light to Bismarckian.
Bismarck stand out as the man whom Bismarck feared and against whom he plotted through an English newspaper. Bismarck was friendly to Bismarck that the latter actually proposes that the German Embassy
at Paris, Bismarck and the German Embassy secretly communicate direct with the St. James Gazette, and that Bismarck had to have perceived Bismarck's game. This makes the Full Mail Gazette compare him to MacDonald
and Pugin, and christen him "Simon
the second."

A CONFLICT EXPECTED.
Prospect of Another Serious Outbreak at Forest City, Ark.

By Telegram to the Post-Dispatch.
FOREST CITY, Ark., May 22.—The streets of this town were filled with armed men last night, owing to rumors that the negroes contemplated an attack on the jail to liberate the Negro. In consequence there was, and is yet, great excitement among the whites.
A strong guard was posted around the jail,
and details of armed men were stationed all the route on the road to the village. Besides these precautions almost every doorway was well armed. It was stated on good authority that John Christopher, a leading white nationalist, and a man of considerable influence among the negroes, was organizing the blacks in other parts of the country to make the attack.
The result of these rumors and the arming of citizens is that the city is in a virtual state of siege, and with bullets expected to be thrust into it at any moment. The threatened attack of the black hordes on the jail in which are imprisoned the men who figured so conspicuously in the terrible tragedy of last Saturday.

NEW AND CLEVER TRICKS

DEVICES TO DECEIVE UNWARY BUYERS OF GOLD AND JEWELS.

The Reaction Hailed Among the New York Police by a Good Chain Peddler—A Manufacturer Who Skipped Out—Hitting the Pawnbrokers—"Garret Shops" and Their Products—Doubts.

Special Correspondence of the POST-DISPATCH.

NEW YORK, May 15.—[Copyrighted]—There is a New York City number of men—actually peddlers, though they repudiate that designation—who sell jewelry, gold and silver, and other things, upon "the installment plan" to members of "the finest." The business is a good one, collectors and dealers alike, when the monthly payments come around and the expenses of trade are to those engaged in this much smaller than are borne by dealers who have store rent and clerk hire to pay. Consequently the merchant who is in the office, and the clerk, and whose pockets are his store, or who, dealing in bulkier goods than those he can carry, sells on large commissions from manufacturers, is not a peddler.

The Sympathetic Racket. He was not willing to pay a honest manufacturer's price for honest goods, so he himself made a rather cheap job by his good for illegitimate profits. The question may be asked: How does the chain peddler, with silver instead of copper, a much less expensive metal? To this the pawnbroker particularly, but generally anybody who might try them with him and acid. Copper, when touched by the acid, causes it to boil up a vivid green color, while silver only shows gray and the green is what the expert is on the lookout for.

ABOUT A MANUSCRIPT.

HOW A RUDDING AUTHORITIES IS TREATED BY MAGAZINE EDITORS.

The Story-Readers Since the Apriling Novel From After and Decide to Reject Her Offering Without Reading It—Experiences at the "Century," "Harper's" and "Scribner's."

Special Correspondence of the POST-DISPATCH. NEW YORK, May 17. LL. Know that the army of literature have great difficulty in getting manuscripts accepted. As a general thing they are content to sneak the precious parcel into a letter-box and wait for the publisher's answer.

But the writer determined to see for herself what the experience was like. To realize the struggles of an unsuccessful writer it is first necessary to write a story which would be accepted by a magazine editor who had the misfortune to read it. No sparks of latent genius should radiate its pages. It must be an impossible story, tedious and commonplace.

It was in April, and the day unusually warm. The tempered light of the great brick building on the corner of Broadway and Seventh street was restful to the eyes after the glare and rumble of Broadway, and the place was silent as a church. As the elevator door opened, a young man in a blue suit and white shirt, with a blue ribbon in his pocket, stepped out.

He was not willing to pay a honest manufacturer's price for honest goods, so he himself made a rather cheap job by his good for illegitimate profits. The question may be asked: How does the chain peddler, with silver instead of copper, a much less expensive metal? To this the pawnbroker particularly, but generally anybody who might try them with him and acid. Copper, when touched by the acid, causes it to boil up a vivid green color, while silver only shows gray and the green is what the expert is on the lookout for.

THE WILLIE MAIERS CASE.
It is Very Probable That No Further Steps Will Be Taken.

The release of the three dog catchers who were accused of assaulting Willie Maiers, reported fully in yesterday's Post-Dispatch, attracted some attention. Public sentiment largely favored the boy, but it is probable that the matter will be allowed to rest where it is. In connection with the case in court and other features of the case, the following card of Dr. Baudouy, written yesterday, is interesting. It is probable that no further steps will be taken in the case.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
In the issue of yesterday's POST-DISPATCH the following extract is taken from that paper's report of the "Malters case": "This morning, while in the ante-room adjoining the Criminal Court, he was seized with three of these paroxysms, which he tore the leather covering of a cushion into fragments. The leather is of a heavy quality and after the adjournment of court a dozen of the strongest men in the court-room were given fragments of the cushion and invited to try their strength, but without exception they failed to make the slightest impression on the material. This was a 'stumper' for Dr. Baudouy and Attorneys Bass and McDonald, and they declined to talk on the matter."

In reply, Mr. Editor, I would state that Mr. Marshall McIntosh, who was present at the trial, and who was the only person who saw the boy in a paroxysm, is the only person who saw the boy in a paroxysm. I am a physician who thinks he once saw the boy in a genuine "fit."

What the doctor, I doubt not witnessed, was explained, I feel sure, by "expectant attention" or "hypnotic influence" upon the part of the boy, desirous as he was, and still is, in my opinion, for morbid sympathy. For Dr. J. A. Leary's opinion I also have respect, but I have never heard that the doctor ever claimed to witness any epileptic, epileptoid or epileptiform manifestations. The verdict of the jury is a vindication and triumph for the dog catchers. With this exception, and the above, I challenge the medical profession of the entire world to prove any of these alleged paroxysms genuine by any scientific physician, who has actually examined the patient in a paroxysm, and who has seen the medical man making a contrary claim is either a "knave or a fool."

CARTER VS. CARTER.
The Celebrated Divorce Case Decided in Favor of the Husband.

CHICAGO, Ill., May 22.—The notable divorce case of Carter vs. Carter, which has been on trial for several weeks in the Circuit Court before Judge Jameson, was decided this morning at 9:30 o'clock, when the jury came in with its verdict. The suit was brought by Mrs. Leslie Carter, who charged her husband with adultery and other matters unusual in such a hearing made it a celebrated case. The trial has been crowded since the trial began. During its progress the testimony took the listeners in imagination. The husband, a European, gave them glimpses of the royal prodigality with which Mrs. Carter lavished money on personal adornments and equipages, though her husband was by no means a rich man. With this exception, and the above, I challenge the medical profession of the entire world to prove any of these alleged paroxysms genuine by any scientific physician, who has actually examined the patient in a paroxysm, and who has seen the medical man making a contrary claim is either a "knave or a fool."

An Accident to Mrs. Jacob Klein.
Mrs. Jacob Klein, wife of Circuit Judge Klein, was out driving yesterday afternoon and met with an accident. She had made several visits and was driving the animal to the stable. Near the corner of Ohio and Lafayette avenues it became frightened and ran away. Mrs. Klein tightened the reins and the horse, in becoming nervous, threw his head back and struck her with his head. The accident occurred at the corner of Ohio and Lafayette avenues. The horse was killed. The wheels of the carriage passed over her head, and she was thrown from the carriage. A Constable on the Rampage.

CRUELTY TO ANIMALS.
Mrs. W. H. Brighthouse Prosecutes a Case to a Successful End.
Morris Bromin was fined $50 and costs in the First District Police Court this morning for cruelty to animals. The prosecution of the case is due to Mrs. W. H. Brighthouse, a member of the Ladies' Humane Society. The attention of Mrs. Brighthouse was attracted yesterday afternoon while driving on Washington avenue and Broadway to the inhuman manner in which a surly faced teamster was beating an old and crippled horse. The animal was attached to a rickety wagon in the box of which was confined a dog which was making frantic efforts to escape. The driver armed with a stout whip, would first beat the horse to wake him up and then beat the dog to put him to sleep. Mrs. Brighthouse became interested in the welfare of the poor brutes and followed the coach to sixteenth street and Chouteau avenue where the embarkment at the rail road was being further progressed. Here she saw the treatment become so brutal that she called an officer who was patrolling the street and reported the case.

FIRED AT THE OFFICER.
John Bader Makes a Target of a Special Officer.
Special Officer Quinlan was used as a target by John Bader at an early hour this morning, but the latter proved a poor marksman and is now under arrest charged with assault to kill. About 3 a. m. the attention of the officer was attracted to a man waiting rapidly along Chouteau avenue near Third. The man was carrying a bundle under his arm, and his actions became so suspicious that he was ordered to halt. Instead of complying with the command he dropped the bundle and started on a run down the street. The officer followed, and the stranger ran into the residence at 90 South Third street. As he went up the steps he drew his revolver and fired three shots at the pursuer which failed to take effect. Quinlan then placed him under arrest. At the station he gave the name of John Bader, his age as 27 years, and his occupation as an organ builder.

A Missing Man.
John Dougherty, a railroad switchman, is missing. He was last seen at the residence of his mother, Mrs. Dougherty, at 1015 North Third street, on Tuesday night. He is about 35 years of age, 5 feet 8 inches tall, weighs 150 pounds, and has a fair complexion. He is wearing a dark suit and a light-colored shirt. He is believed to have left his home on Tuesday night and has not been seen since. His mother is very anxious to hear from him and is offering a reward of $50 for his safe return.

A Public Holiday.
The Mayor this morning issued the following proclamation for Decoration Day.
Fully believing that the custom of decorating the graves of those who participated in the war for the preservation of the Union is deeply rooted in the hearts of the American people, and in order to encourage a general observance of the day, and acting in accordance with a well established precedent, Now, therefore, I, Edward A. Noonan, Mayor of the city of St. Louis, do hereby declare the afternoon of Thursday, May 25, 1899, a half-holiday, and do also order that the city offices be closed at noon of that day, and that I request all citizens to abstain from their usual business avocations at the hour and date above mentioned. As an additional mark of respect, I do hereby order and direct that the flag of the city buildings be suspended at half-mast from sunrise to sunset of that day.
EDW. A. NOONAN, Mayor.

Stray Cattle Cause a Panic and Do Some Damage in the Third District.
Two stray steers, one of which appears to be rather eccentric, made much trouble in the Third Police District to-day. The history of the steers, from what part or parts of the country they came, or to whom they belong, is at present unknown, but they seemed to have started out singly this morning to spend a day in sight-seeing about the city. When their motives were for wishing to obtain knowledge of the ways and wisdom of a great city is also a mystery.
One of them appeared in front of Fawcett's china store, 25 1/2 Franklin avenue, and entered the door. Whether he had heard of the old adage regarding one of his ancestors who was killed and buried at Fawcett's and Howard streets, the boy's injuries, however, were not serious, and he was removed to his home.

"A BULL IN A CHINA SHOP."
Inside the rear did not stop to take minute observations, but he continued through into a small room in which Mrs. Stone was standing in front of a looking glass, combing her hair. She did not recognize the footfall of the bovine as those of a regular customer, and on turning about to see who was there, she was startled to find a bull standing in the room. The bull, however, was not a regular customer, and on turning about to see who was there, she was startled to find a bull standing in the room. FARO IS AN OFFENSE.

The Gambling Law Still Stands on the Statute Books.

Hopes of the Sports for the Return of the Old Days of Keno and Faro Blasted.

The Framing of the Johnson Act Explains the Effect of Judge Bruce's Recent Opinion—Poker is a Misdemeanor but Faro is a Felony—The Newbury Bill Does Not Repeat the Laws of 1881—Nothing New in the Supreme Court Construction of the Poker Clause.

His decision of the Supreme Court of Missouri, rendered Monday, to the effect that a pack of cards is not a gambling device is the effect of the decision in 1881. By many the opinion has been interpreted as meaning that if a deck of cards is not in the eyes of the law a gambling device, the game in which they were brought to the attention of the court is not gambling.

Ex-Gov. Cha. P. Johnson, who framed the gambling law, was asked this morning concerning the effect of the opinion. He has just returned from Jefferson City, where he argued a case in the Supreme Court. Speaking of the decision, Gov. Johnson said: "The decision is what has always been the construction of the statute. The only change that has been made in that section which makes a certain kind of gambling a felony has been to insert one more game and to make the penalty imprisonment with fine either in the County Jail or the Penitentiary; under that law before the penalty was changed the game of poker could be prosecuted under that section which provided for a fine only, and the game of faro could be prosecuted under another section."

"The decision of Judge Bruce is simply a reiteration of what has been the construction of the law of Missouri for years. It was never intended that that case was prosecuted in Kansas City to make poker come within the purview of that section which included faro, roulette and the game called the 'house'—against the dealer. The game of faro is a game that is played by a party—on against the other."

The game of faro is a game that is played by a party—on against the other."

"The decision of Judge Bruce is simply a reiteration of what has been the construction of the law of Missouri for years. It was never intended that that case was prosecuted in Kansas City to make poker come within the purview of that section which included faro, roulette and the game called the 'house'—against the dealer. The game of faro is a game that is played by a party—on against the other."

tions such as Henry's were instituted, but now there is a prospect of the question coming up again in practically the same form as it was brought up and decided in the Henry case. In case the Newbury bill should become a law and prosecutions against saloon-keepers who have billiard and pool tables in their places should be instituted, the defense made will be the same as was advanced in the Henry case twelve years ago."

On the point suggested that the sections of the Newbury bill directly repeal the Johnson law Gov. Johnson said: "I don't think the Newbury bill has any bearing on the Johnson law whatever. It is to repeal the law of 1881, such as such and seven-o'clock and any game of chance of that kind played in saloons, making them misdemeanors. The object is to remove inducements to visitors to deluging in saloons."

"It is claimed that this act repeals the Johnson law by implication; that is no such thing as a bill like this repealing a statute on a specific offense by implication."

The Championship Race.

The Last of the Athletics.

The St. Louis Pistol Club and the Queen City Pistol Club of Cincinnati shot the first of a series of three matches last night, each club shooting at its own gallery and the two exchanging telegrams on the result. The teams had ten men each and the St. Louis club scored 146 made by the Cincinnati organization. This gave the St. Louis team a lead of 30 points which their rivals will have to overcome in the second two games to win.

Base Ball Briefs.

The Athletics made their last appearance to-day.

Ladies accompanied by escorts admitted free to all privileges to-morrow.

Everything that is remarkable in the game yesterday, will pitch for the Athletics to-morrow.

The Kansas City will be here on Friday. They expect to get away with three out of four games.

Browns are putting up a wonderfully strong game, and they will give the Eastern club a hard fight on their coming trip.

Keep up your great work, Capt. Connelley. You deserve the hearty encouragement of every right-minded base ball admirer in St. Louis.

Big Jim Davis is covering a great deal of ground for Kansas City. He is likewise a powerful runner and a good baseman, and his friends are glad to see him doing well with the Cowboys.

The short-stop, Long, is said to be a wonder. If he can beat shortstop Fuller, he must be a daisy. Fuller has no superior as a shortstop, and the Athletics are anxious to have any short-stop the Browns have ever had.
